

Formal Event - Booking tables and dress code.

Tickets for the formal function have been on sale for a few days now, thank you to everyone who has already purchased some. If you are not one of these lucky people you can still purchase tickets HERE. There have also been a few emails with questions about the night so hopefully this will clear some of them up.

The function room will be arranged with round tables seating 10 people. If you know who you would like to be seated with the easiest way is to purchase tickets under the one booking with up to 10 people per table. In the case that you do not have a group of 10, purchasing tickets together will still assist in organising your table. If you have already booked or were unsure who else may be attending you can always email to organise a table, to help keep it simple getting one person in your group to coordinate this would be much appreciated.

Dress for the night will be formal wear, ie mess uniform for serving members (optional for reserve members), dinner/lounge suit or evening gown as appropriate.

The venue selected has a seating capacity of more than 1,200 pers and generous space outside the function room enabling an informal catch up with old mates prior to the commencement of the formal part of the night.

As always if you have any further questions please don't hesitate to email us and when we get a chance we will get back to you
